

RICHARD VILLEMIN, who was born and raised in Porterville, is shown at the console of the great organ that he is installing in the Congregational church. The top photo shows a part of the church auditorium, with organ pipes on the balcony; two center photos show some of the pipes that have been placed in sections of the church attic. Villemin is holding one of the smallest pipes of the organ.

CANDIDATE FOR State Assemblyman to represent Tulare and Kings counties is Dr. Gordon Duffy, vice-mayor of the City of Hanford and active for a number of years in school and civic affairs. Statement of candidacy and biography appears on the editorial page.

A PIPE ORGAN IS BORN IN PORTERVILLE

By Bill Rodgers

The imagination of an anonymous committee, plus the touch of genius by a native Portervillian — Richard Villemin — is resulting in the birth of a remarkable and tremendous pipe organ in the First Congregational church of Porterville — an organ on which Villemin started work last June and which will be completed in its initial stage some time after Easter.

The project started with purchase of a console from Claremont College in southern California, a console that was to be used with the organ then in the church. But the project grew, and today there are sets of pipes in the church belfry, on the auditorium balcony, in attics back of the choir loft and the minister's study, all being tied together into the console through a system of cables that Villemin has strung throughout the church.

Technically, all of the various installations have names, but names are for the professionals. It is the sounds that this great instrument is already sending forth that add new dignity to the church — beautiful sounds that will be increased in variety as Villemin continues to work.

By purchase of parts from dismantled organs, for instance from a southern California church that fell in the path of a freeway, this organ is being built at a fraction of the cost of a new instrument.

As of now there is about $16,000 involved in the "first stage". Under a "five year" plan, as visualized by the anonymous committee, the organ will be completed for $27,000 to $30,000, giving the church and the community an instrument that if purchased new would cost at least $100,000. And it will be the only organ in the area on which all schools of organ music can be performed.

Villemin is working, as he has time, for virtually nothing compared to his fee as installation man for the Moller Pipe Organ Builders of Hagerstown, Maryland. Why?

"I don't really know," he says. "I'm not a member of the church, but I have serviced the Congregation."

Sanchez, Judge of the East Los Angeles Municipal court, shown above. Present also will be Francisco R. Jamie, consul of Mexico from Fresno, and Anthony Ortuno, mayor of Azusa and a nephew of Cecil Salas, of Porterville. The event will start at 7 p.m.

Editorial Comment

THIS IS GORDON DUFFY

If you are among the many who believe that we can do better — in fact that we are negligent if we don't do better — in the way of representation from Tulare and Kings counties in the State Assembly, then take a look at Dr. Gordon Duffy, of Hanford. Here is the background of a man who we think would give us the representation we should have:

Dr. Gordon W. Duffy, 40, who this week announced his candidacy as a Republican for the California Assembly, is a Hanford City councilman who for the past 15 years has combined a career as a practicing optometrist with active participation in the civic and educational affairs of his native community.

Currently vice-mayor of Hanford, he was elected to the Hanford City council in May, 1962, having previously served for six years as a member and chairman of the Hanford Elementary School District Board of Trustees.

He also served from 1952 to 1955 as member and chairman of the Hanford Planning commission. He is a past president of the Hanford Lions club, Central California Optometric society, Kings County Republican assembly, past president and area governor of the Toastmasters club, past treasurer of the California Optometric association and an honorary life member of the California Parent-Teachers association.

A graduate of Hanford High school, he received his A.B. degree from the University of California at Berkeley in 1944. Called to active duty with the Navy in 1943, he served overseas from 1944 to 1946, taking part in the invasion of Luzon and Corregidor.

After his honorable discharge in May, 1946 he returned to the University of California, where he received his degree in optometry in 1948. His subsequent career parallels that of his father, the late Dr. Carl Duffy, also an optometrist known in Kings county for his civic and educational work.

Born in 1924, Dr. Duffy is married to the former JoAnn Hein of Toledo, Ohio, herself a practicing Hanford physician under her maiden name. The couple have three sons, Bryan, 4; Mark, 2; and Eric, eight months.

Dr. Duffy is also a member of the Kings County Farm Bureau, Hanford American Legion, Hanford Masonic lodge, and is on the board of directors of the Hanford Community hospital. The family attends the First Presbyterian Church of Hanford.

WRESTLERS LABOR IN SHADOWS; KIND WORDS FOR STAN HARDIN

The Porterville High School high school or college wrestling. It is a pressing, constant contact sport where there is tremendous muscular exertion. The rest periods are extremely short and a poorly conditioned wrestler just doesn't have a chance.

We were on hand in the mat room last week when the Panthers took on the Delano high Tigers. The local grunt and groaners took the match 24-17, but not until gallons of sweat and hundreds of pounds of pressure had been applied.

For sheer man against man muscle power there is no sport like

Some of the big winners for the Panthers were Gary Dove, Greg Schmid, John Avila, and Larry Brown. Dove went after his Tiger like he was a stuffed toy put there to play with. He did everything but tie his legs in a bow. Avila, a tackle on the Panthers' fine football team this past fall, took a 9-1 decision from his opponent. Greg Schmid, another footballer, took his man by an 8-3 count. Larry Brown, a line-wrecking Panther halfback last fall, wrestled

STATEMENT OF CANDIDACY

I am a candidate for the office of State Assemblyman for Tulare and Kings counties. My campaign will not be based upon partisan rivalry but will stress the needs for better legislation in welfare and education.

During a period when welfare expenditures have sky-rocketed we find that State participation in education has lagged. The California Constitution guarantees first call on state monies for education. Yet more and more of the school finance burden is shifted from the State onto the already heavily-taxed local property owner.

The recent legislature, with support of the incumbent, has passed into law AB 59, the aid to unemployed fathers program. This piece of legislation will raise the demands on our local property tax in Tulare-Kings counties over one million dollars a year. It will however DECREASE the property tax demands in Los Angeles and other metropolitan areas. We in the San Joaquin Valley are therefore being asked to carry an even larger share than the rest of the state.

Other provisions of this law will have the effect of raising costs on the farm to a point where many of our local taxpayers may be forced out of business. Its costs will be so staggering that there may not be sufficient funds in the welfare program for the genuinely needy. In addition it effectively removes from local officials any control over the welfare program.

This bill the incumbent voted for and says he is proud of. It is only the most recent example of his dereliction. During the campaign I will point out how he has failed the farmer, the business man, the laborer and most cruelly has failed our children in neglecting the needs of our schools.

We in Tulare and Kings counties need someone to look out for our interests who is not afraid to fight the party machine that is controlled by Mr. Unruh of Los Angeles.

Because of my experience in government and education I feel that I can serve the public with proven knowledge and ability. My only motivation is a deep and sincere desire to give the people of Tulare and Kings counties a voice once more in the State Assembly.

POPLAR CHAMBER HONORING 4-H CLUBS AT ANNUAL BANQUET TONIGHT IN METHODIST CHURCH

POPLAR, Jan. 30 — Rockford and Pleasant View 4-H clubs will be honored, and club members will provide the program at seventh annual banquet of the Poplar chamber of commerce, being served tonight, starting at 7 o'clock, at the Methodist church.

Welcome will be extended by H. H. Hutchinson, Poplar chamber president; 4-H pledge will be led by Jackie Lunstad and Greg Dunbar, Rockford and Pleasant View club presidents; invocation will be spoken by the Rev. John R. Trimble; master of ceremonies will be George Souza, of Visalia, president of the Tulare County 4-H council; trophies will be presented to the in the 191 pound division and ran into a real tiger as he was extended in winning 6-5.

The local mat squad is coached by Darryl Williams who has done a fine job in giving the troops the tools to win with in such a rugged game.

The wrestling team's next home outing will be on February 8 when they will host the league meet in the PUHS gym. They will be away from home on January 28, at Redwood; on January 31, at Mt. Whitney, and on February 4 at Delano.

Pleasant View club by Howard Smith.

Entertainment from the Pleasant View club will feature a vocal trio — Donna, Dotty and Deanna Overholt, with June Oliver as accompanist; a saxophone sextet — Mike Overholt, Carl Lindgren, Carol Oliver, Deanna Overholt, Roman Racca, and Yolanda Racca; an accordion solo by Janet Serafin.

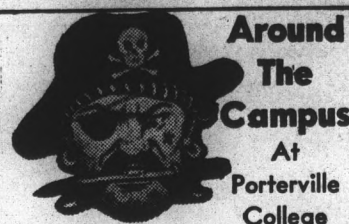

Entertainment from the Rockford club will include: Baton twirler, Sandra Valine; demonstrations by Betsy Billou and Carrie Lunstad and by Kathy and Carol Briano; and a vocal quartet, Diane Ferrer, Wanda Posey, and Betsy and Jackie Billou.

Wednesday, January 22 was the day that Porterville College students finished up final examinations, registered for the spring semester, purchased books and materials for their new classes, then took off in a gallop for a two-day semester break.

Last Friday some 50 students drove to Lodge Pole for annual snow party. Fortunately, there was snow. Everyone enjoyed Pepsi and rolls provided by the Student Council, and beans cooked by Frank Guntren. Nearly everyone got back in time to see the Pirates notch another basketball win with San Benito college as the victim, then off to the following dance. If college life was always thus!

Initial plans are being made for annual all-sports banquet in the spring. The banquet, sponsored by the Student Council, is designed to honor all those who participate in athletics. There will be a speaker, and awards will be presented. Tentative date is May 5.

The Student Council voted Tuesday to present a scholarship to a graduating boy or girl in memory of the late President John F. Kennedy. The scholarship is not continuous, but may or may not be re-established by succeeding councils.

A rally has been planned for Friday afternoon (that's tomorrow) as a build-up for the Allan Hancock College game Friday night in the Porterville high school gym. Hancock, always tough on the court, has become one of the Pirates' biggest rivals. The Freshman class will sell candy at the game; the Newman club will sponsor a dance after the game.

"TWELVE ANGRY MEN" SHOULD GET ANGRY ENOUGH TO LEARN THEIR LINES

By Bill Rodgers

"Twelve Angry Men" is the Barn theater's best this season, and a good one it is, but the best, off last Saturday night's performance, could be a lot better if one simple technique of the theater was employed — actors should learn their lines.

This show is built around a team effort; it is designed to create suspense; it is supposed to move to a dramatic climax.

All this requires a bang-bang approach to cues.

And suspense is supposed to center around what the jury of Twelve Angry Men is going to do to this fellow who is alleged to have murdered his own father, not how long it will take someone on the jury to catch his line from the wings.

And while we're being critical we'll have to state that Joe Mosconi's Act 3 speech that should bring the show to its highest peak just didn't come off like it should. We suspect lack of simple theater technique referred to in paragraph one.

But we said this was a good show, so let's talk about the good things. Really Mosconi is one of those good things most of the time — he looks and acts just like he is cast to look and act. (But those lines, Joe.)

And there's Jack Harvey — maybe a real find for the Barn. He does what an actor is supposed to do — create a character; he does this exceptionally well.

And Oren O'Neill comes up with a fine performance. We're sort of prejudiced on O'Neill since he has done such a good job is somewhat standard types in past shows. In this one he proves that he can move into a more dramatic and creative sort of role, and again we say, keep your future eye on Oren.

Brad Norman, another newcomer, brings a lot of poise and acting ability to the Barn stage; Ken Howard, ditto.

Then there's the old pro, Eldon Hunt. He's not spectacular in this one, but he's in character every second of the show — the character of an old man. His best bit (you could easily miss it) is the look he gives one of the jurors after that juror has heaped abuse on the old men in general and on one old man specifically.

Charles Smith gives a good performance, after he gets going;

Jack Norman, who has been around the Barn just about ever since there has been a Barn, does his usual good job; Frank Shields, not really strong as the jury foreman; Roy Armistead, a good voice and a good role; Ralph Bernier, for some reason not too convincing to us, even though he handles himself well on stage; Bob Slover just doesn't look like the advertising man he is supposed to be, but, now that we think about it, we don't know what an advertising man really looks like; Bill Williamson, a Barn veteran, has a minor role in this one.

Directing Twelve Angry Men is Gary Garlund, Hossar winner as a Barn director for two consecutive years. He has a good total cast in an excellent stage setting, with a dramatic vehicle — but whipping 12 diversified jurors, all men, into line presents problems.

But in total this is a good show — and it will get sharper as it goes along.

(As a spur-of-the-moment thought, we'd like to see this show move right through without the traditional acts break. We think the dramatic mood could be built to much greater proportions with this technique. Oh well. It's only a thought.)

The Old Days

GLOBE CHURCH, which was destroyed by fire on December 22, 1963, is shown in the above photo as it was on January 17, 1933, following a snow storm. The well-known landmark on highway 190 was built in 1912-13 while the Rev. Jas. R. Clark was pastor of the Springville Methodist circuit; articles of incorporation were granted by the State of California on December 15, 1910, as the Pleasant Valley Methodist, Episcopal church, after it had been decided during a meeting of residents of the valley in June, 1910, that a church would be built. Presiding at that meeting was H.W. Peck; acting pastor was the Rev. J.H. Amis, of Ducor; Sunday School superintendent was E.M. Wheeler; president of the Ladies Aid was Mrs. W.W. Wheeler; and among those attending the meeting were: W.W. Welfer, C.J. Maas, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clark — he was the secretary — and Brother and Sister Dunham. The church property was sold to Carl Powell in 1940, with the restriction that it would never be used as a "road house;" Powell turned the church into a home and lived there for several years, but sold the property last April to Hal Doran. Meanwhile, Powell had moved to southern California and the old church building was returned to its originally intended use when, about four years ago, a group in Pleasant Valley leased it, remodeled it, and renamed it the Pleasant Valley Chapel. When the church burned, its pastor was the Rev. J. Eldon Anderson. (Hammond Studio photo. Information from Miss Ina Stiner's, "History of Porterville," and from Wes Maas)

DATES SET FOR ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP CONCERT ASSOC.

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 30—Plans were made for the annual membership campaign of the Porterville Community Concert association at a meeting of the association's board of directors, last week.

The week of April 6 to 11 was the date designated, with Mrs. Ted Cornell named as general chairman. Headquarters for this year will be at 322 Main Street next door to the United Savings and Loan Association.

Miss Dorothy Donahue, New York representative for Community Concerts associations also in attendance reviewed the available artists for the 1964-65 year.

Also planned was a shish-kebab dinner as the kick-off for the campaign to be held on Sunday afternoon, April 5, with association president, John Vaznaian named as chairman to be assisted by Arthur Huff and Fred Fink. The dinner will be for workers, board members and their spouses.

Those attending the meeting were: Bill Ardoian, Arthur Huff, Fred Fink, Barbara Cornell, Polly Aldridge, Pauline Barnes, Barbara Hershberger, Enid Musick, Erma Doran, Terry Bergfalk.

MORE THAN 500 people were served Sunday afternoon and evening at annual March of Dimes benefit dinner prepared by the Springville Lions' club,

"Z" CLUB INAUGURAL DINNER TO BE GIVEN BY ZONTA MEMBERS TO INSTITUTE NEW CAMPUS GROUP

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 30 — A "Z" Club to be established in Porterville Union High school will receive its certificate Sunday, February 2, at an inaugural dinner given by the Zonta club of Porterville at the Starlite Inn.

Z Clubs are organized for girls in high schools, junior colleges, colleges and universities by Zonta clubs and are dedicated, in the image of their sponsors, to community service. While the projects in which they engage may be on a smaller scale than those of the established career executives who compose Zonta's membership, the Z Club girls are expected to include assistance to their schools in their activities.

Though they frequently supplement each other's services, Z Clubs, once they are established, operate independently, initiate their own projects and raise their own funds. The sponsoring Zonta clubs continue in advisory and guidance capacities.

The new Z club, one of many flourishing on campuses across the country, plans to concentrate its initial endeavors in service to blind youth, with main project transcribing books into Braille. They have offered their assistance to help Lions club members with their White Cane drive. They are also helping on Heart Fund activities, serving refreshments at the Cardiac party for 200 cardiac patients to be held February 15 at the Fox theatre in Visalia.

Charter officers of the Z Club of which 36 girls have been selected as initial members are: President, Dianna Dotters; vice president, Christina Higgins; secretary, Karen Conrad; treasurer, Pat Dubie, and members: Shirley Achterberg, Kathy Allison, Christina Ambriz, Judy Barnett, Carol Bays, Pat Board, Bonnie Bray, Bette Byers, Maxima Castaneda, Mary Choate, Carol Cragg, Claudia Daybell, Pam Hastings, Linda Darlene Jones, Candy Lusk, Carol Ann Moore, Trucelia Morrison, Sally Muller, Mary Offill, Linda Omelich, Kathleen Petrone, Dixie Rabbon, Marilyn Ross, Janet Schwinn, Vicky Simmons, Ramona Smith, Sandra Thrall, Nancy Vera, Carol Wilenius, Kathy Wilson, and Suzi Ziegler.

We have several political suggestions which shouldn't go unheard in these troubled times. For instance we would like to suggest that they fill in the Panama Canal and return it to the owners in the same state they found it. We would also like to put all the people that think the missiles won't work on an island and let the people that think they do work have two free shots - winner take all. Lastly, we would put Liz Taylor on the comic pages in place of some weird ones that are already there.

Having done these momentous things, we would like to take you away from it all with some spring gardening. All sorts of sexy bedding plants are cluttering up our joint along with gladiolus bulbs and roses. The glads include twelve separate colors which would be beautiful for decoration day. Also miniature glads for small arrangements and novelty glads for you odd balls. Plant any of these with a little bone meal or a well seasoned fish for best results.

This is the beginning of lawn sowing season for which we would be happy to loan you the tools, give you information, or sell you the materials. We will be open Sundays starting February nine, so the Sunday gardener will have a chance to browse around - On "E" Street North of Olive.

PORTERVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AWARDS WILL BE PRESENTED AT BANQUET

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 30 — Traditional awards will be presented at 57th annual banquet of the Porterville chamber of commerce, set for Saturday night in the high school cafeteria, with serving of a turkey dinner to start at 7 p.m.

Man of the year for 1963 will be announced, with last year's man of the year, Allan Coates, to make the presentation; woman of the year award will be made by Wallie Wilson, who won the honor last year; organization of the year award will be given by Doris Burkhardt, of 20-And's, last year's winner.

To be honored at the banquet are the women's organizations of the Porterville community.

Speaker will be Rev. J. Whitcomb Broughter, Jr., of the First Baptist church of Glendale; master of ceremonies will be Harlan Ohde; dinner music will be provided by the Fabulous Studio band; invocation will be spoken by the Rev. James Hazen; national anthem will be sung by Douglas Scarbrough; a welcome will be extended and an activity report given by Tex Davis, 1963 president; committee heads will be introduced by Don Howard, 1964 president; special entertainment will be presented.

The banquet is annually a sell-out, however, there are still some tickets available at the chamber office in Porterville.

TOP LOCAL TALENT WILL FEATURE SECOND CITY OF HOPE SPECTACULAR

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 30 — Top local talent will be featured in second annual City of Hope Spectacular that will be staged by Buck Shaffer in the Porterville Memorial auditorium the evening of February 15 as a benefit for the City of Hope in southern California.

Sponsoring the show is the Porterville Auxiliary of the City of Hope, headed by Ross Smith. All proceeds go to the City of Hope.

Booked now is the Fabulous Studio band, that will kick off the show and provide background music throughout the evening. Donna Kotchever, organist, will provide pre-show entertainment, and will also appear in a featured spot; Art Huff's Madrigal Singers will entertain; The Flashes will present a twirling exhibition, and Jackie Jenkins will sing original folk tunes.

Solo dancers will be Eldeen Hunt and Vickie Pollard; Vocalist Doug Scarbrough will be in a featured spot, also Larry Lindgren, with his trumpet and his rendition of Sugar Blues, along with Vocalist Alice Peterson, from Porterville college.

Featured also will be Linda Rogers, with Mrs. Betty Deaton at the piano. Ushers for the show will be the Orange Blossoms and the Majorettes from the Porterville High School Panther band.

Shaffer states that the show will utilize the community's best talent, but that show time will be cut shorter than last year. Shaffer is still auditioning acts for the Spectacular.

Adult tickets sell for $1.00; elementary-age youngsters' tickets sell for 50 cents.

CHAPEL CHIMES

By
Rev. N. J.
Thompson

The Russian astronaut, Titov, proclaimed to the world with a nasty sneer that he did not find God in his trip into space. Why did Titov fail to find God there? Did he expect to see God peeking at him from behind a cloud?

Since God is a spirit, as Jesus explained to the Samaritan woman at the well, "no man hath seen God at any time." Later, the resurrected Saviour further explained, "A spirit hath not flesh and bones."

Titov could not find God in space because his attitude toward finding God was all wrong. Being a dedicated Communist and atheist, he ridiculed the idea that God was "the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy," Isaiah 57:15. He

Sterling Ensign Reports Activity In Land Sales

TERRA BELLA, Jan. 30 — Jose Chavez and Mary Lou Chavez of Strathmore have purchased 20 acres on which to plant about 3,000 Navel orange trees which they have in their nursery east of Strathmore.

One 10 acres, legally described as the east half of lot 94, subdivision No. 5, on the north side of avenue 92 between roads 244 and 248, was bought from Thomas and Pauline Jardine of Granada Hills.

The second 10 acres, lot 718, subdivision No. 14, both of Terra Bella lands, was obtained from William A. Phillips and Patricia Phillips of Van Nuys. It is on the northeast corner of avenue 84 and road 244.

Robert Calvin Glover and Martha Jane Glover of Santa Paula have bought 10 acres from William B. Johnson and Lucy D. Johnson of Burbank, described as Lot 708, subdivision No. 14, of Terra Bella Lands, on the south side of avenue 88 one 10 acres east of road 244.

Also buying 10 acres in the Terra Bella district are Roy C. Fennell and Evelyn D. Fennell of Anaheim. They purchased from Earl M. Kryger of Terra Bella, Lot 497, Subdivision No. 11, on the south side of avenue 88, one 10 acres west of road 264.

All of these sales were made through the office of Sterling Ensign, realtor of Terra Bella.

did not believe that only God's finger keeps a hundred billion worlds spinning in space.

The ancient prophet Jeremiah could have told Mr. Titov why he failed to find God. God, speaking through the prophet, declares to men everywhere: "Ye shall seek Me and find Me, when ye shall search for Me with all your heart."

Mr. Titov was not searching for God with all his heart. In fact, he didn't want to find God at all. So he had no chance of finding Him.

Uncounted millions of men and women, young and old, rich and poor, could tell Titov how they succeeded in finding God through faith. They could tell him there's a vast difference between hearing about God and hearing God, between looking for God and looking

ANOTHER IMPROVEMENT project for the Pioneer Water company got underway this week with the laying of another section of 42-inch monolithic pipeline to carry water from Success dam to the agricultural area served by the company. Four thousand feet of pipe is being laid in the Pioneer ditch, starting at the ditch company bridge on the old Springville highway and continuing on toward the northwest; about 385 feet will be laid in the opposite direction from the bridge, back to the Patterson property line. Pearson & Bullard, of Turlock, have the contract; project cost is estimated at $25,000.

We Only Heard

BACK IN town this week was one of the bushiest of former Bushfaces, Charlie Geoble, former Porterville city councilman, former agricultural inspector, former deputy county agricultural commissioner, and former agricultural inspector who is doing real fine as agricultural commissioner and sealer of weights and measures in Lake county. Charlie is chairman of the agricultural committee of the Lakeport chamber of commerce, member of the Lions club (he's not young enough for Rotary), secretary of the North Coast Sealers' association, and sort of man-about-the-county when it comes to making speeches. He has even been approached by a committee of citizens looking for a candidate for city council. He and Mrs. Geoble have a house practically in a lake, and as a booster for Lake county — well the chamber of commerce up there must have quite an indoctrination program going. Charlie was in Porterville because of the serious illness of his mother.

ANOTHER FORMER Bushface who came back to town this week is Hank Burford. Seems like after cooperating fully in the hectic antics of the Centennial year, 'ol Hank decided to amount to something, got himself an edukashun and a wife, and is now teaching at Roche Avenue school.

PIPE ORGAN

tional church organ for 20 years. Maybe I'm just sentimental. I remember when the church caught fire a number of years ago, and how Harold Cole, the church organist then, actually cried when he saw the damage done to the organ. I wish Mr. Cole could see and play this organ that we are building now."

Since June, when he started work on the new organ, Villemin has taken time out to install new organs in churches at Las Vegas and Reno. And it was Villemin who recently removed the organ from the world-famous Fox theater in San Francisco prior to demolition of the theater.

This highly publicized project started after greats of the theater and entertainment world staged a final performance in the Fox theater.

"Because of demolition schedule to beat a tax deadline, we had only nine days to get the organ out of the theater—if we had failed, the organ would have been demolished with the theater," Villemin says, "General opinion was that the job couldn't be done. But I sent out a call to my friends and nine of us went to work. Union representatives called on us and protested the fact that I had not hired through a union hall. I had no time to argue, so I hired nine union men just to sit and watch us work. This was fine until the sit-in union men started to complain about working conditions."

Press, radio and television gave hour by hour coverage to the organ removal job, and television cameras were turning as Villemin cut a hole in the roof of the theater in order to pull out, then lower to the ground, 32-foot organ pipes.

The Fox theater organ, originally costing some $125,000 back in 1929, was purchased by a former theater organist, now a State Assemblyman, and is presently stored in "one big pile" in southern California waiting reconstruction.

Born and raised in Porterville, Villemin played the old Monache theater organ when he was in high school, and under his hands an organ sings, even though he has never studied music and "does not know one note from another." As an organ builder, one of only a few in California, Villemin covers the area of Central California, Nevada and part of Arizona for the Moller company, installing and servicing pipe organs. He regularly takes care of some 80 organs between Sacramento and San Diego.

In addition he has been associated with many of the great concert organists of the world as a technician, tuning and repairing organs prior to concerts. And he has served in a technical capacity in the making of virtually every theater-type organ record produced on the west coast in recent years.

Is organ building a dying profession?

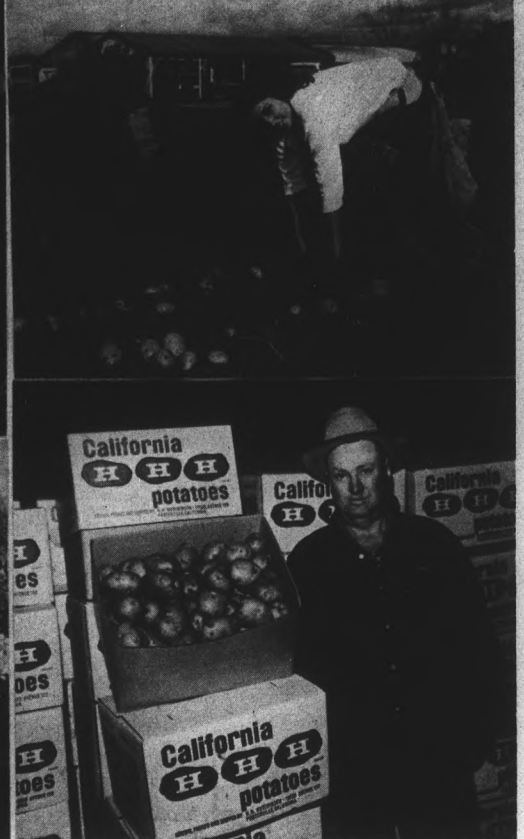

Not so, says Villemin, who believes that the pipe organ is now experiencing its greatest renaissance in years.

"There are four major pipe organ builders in America today," fact Hutchinson says that he is beating the "big boys" in Kern county on the Los Angeles market. From the field, potatoes are trucked to the Hutchinson ranch, on West Olive near Cotton Center, run through washing, grading and packing equipment there, and moved by endless belt in cartons to a storage barn to await shipment. A few years back potatoes were grown in some volume in southeastern Tulare county, but this season the only potatoes in this district are the 140 acres grown by Hutchinson and about the same acreage on the Roberts Farms.

he says, "all of them on the east coast. Right now the minimum delivery date on a new pipe organ is from 18 months to two years. In the vicinity of Porterville, there are 14 pipe organs in churches — and in homes."

Getting back to the Congregational church organ, Villemin says that while he is not superstitious, he can't help but feel that the church was destined for such an instrument as is now being installed.

"This is a beautiful old church," he says. "There seems to be a place for everything that we need to install, and the acoustics are wonderful."

He recounts an experience in running a large cable the full length of the church attic into the belfry without having any idea of how he would get the cable through the wall.

"We just started going," he says, "pushing the cable along. When we reached the belfry there was a knothole in exactly the spot where I wanted the cable to go through the wall. And the shape of the ceilings, the shape of the attics all seem to fit almost exactly the equipment we want to put in."

Incidentally, one of the world's famous organists stopped in Porterville last summer to go over the church project with Villemin — Searle Wright, who teaches theory classes in Union Seminary's school of sacred music and is organist in St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University.

A couple of weeks ago Art Huff, of the Porterville high school faculty, brought a class to the Congregational church for a lecture on history of the pipe organ, given by Mrs. Eric Grant, and for a discussion and demonstration of the console and organ in the church by Villemin.

When the class had gone, Villemin remarked, "Isn't it wonderful. When that console was at Claremont College, students came by bus from as far as San Diego to see it. Now, in Porterville, they travel just seven blocks."

So an organ is born in Porterville, thanks to imagination, an anonymous committee, and the hands and mind and skill of Richard Villemin.
